South Walton Professional Fire Fighters proposes plan which would save taxpayers $850,000 this year.

South Walton Professional Fire Fighters which represents Firefighters, Paramedics, and Dispatchers employed by the South Walton Fire District has proposed a plan which would save local taxpayers $850,000 this year.

The plan represents a collaborative effort between labor leadership and the pension board and allows for retirement of some of the district's most senior employees. If the plan were adopted, SWFD would not hire personnel to replace 6 of those vacated positions. This agreement would be reevaluated annually and could be extended to net an even greater savings for the taxpayers of the Fire District.

It is the position of the South Walton Professional Fire Fighters that containing cost in these economic times is vitally important. As taxpayers, and as members of SWFD, we understand and feel the effects of the current economy. If adopted, this plan will save taxpayers money, prevent further layoffs and contain costs. We believe this plan will provide a sustainable business model that will carry SWFD through the current economic times.

This proposal was presented prior to the recent layoff of Deputy Chief Sean Hughes, who was slated to be included in the plan.

Fraternally,
South Walton Professional
Fire Fighters Association
